

Contents Division

It is rare for a property to suffer damage without its contents being affected in some way. Maybe a small fire has left the odor or smoke in the furnishings and a layer of soot on the photos? Maybe flood waters covered an expensive area rug or saturated a box of important documents? Or maybe a storm tore the roof off the building and everything contained within needs to be moved out, thoroughly cleaned and dried, then warehoused until the reconstruction has been completed?

At Mendco Construction Co., we are prepared to properly handle the contents from any damaged property. We are sensitive to how inconvenient and unsettling it can be to have important items and documents out of your hands and in the care of strangers. Our contents division takes extreme measures to insure all items are securely protected through cataloging, utmost care and security, and reasonable accessibility to all items brought into our facility.
